TSUNAMI WORKSHOP IN MANILA Learn how to be prepared in case of a tsunami, where and how to safely evacuate, and how to know when it is all clear at a Tsunami Preparedness Workshop on Saturday, March 29 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Manila Community Center, 1611 Peninsula Dr. in the sandy outpost of Manila. At 11 a.m. Troy Nicolini, meteorologist in charge of the National Weather Service office in Eureka, will give a tsunami preparedness presentation. Nicolini has 20 years of experience working in tsunami preparedness. From noon to 2 p.m. there will be a drop-in event for assembling go bags. Get evacuation maps and learn what should go in your bag. Bring your own bag or pick up a free starter bag and basic items (available for the first 30 people from the peninsula). If a large earthquake off Humboldt's coast triggers a tsunami, people on the Samoa Peninsula will have about 10 minutes or less to reach high ground. They will need to evacuate to the tall dunes, where they may need to stay for up to 48 hours. That's why, if you live on the peninsula, you need a bag with food, water and other supplies ready to go in the event you need to evacuate.

TSUNAMI TSUPPER Join the Humboldt Grange #501, 5845 Humboldt Hill Rd., and your community for our Tsupper Tsunami Tspaghetti Tsupper Thursday, March 20. Doors open at 5 p.m.; Tsupper at 5:30 p.m.; Tspeakers at 6:30 p.m. Let's dine together and learn more about what went right and what we can improve upon after the Dec. 5, 2024 Earthquake and Tsunami Warning. Let's concentrate on being prepared before the next earthquake and to know if we are in a Tsunami Evacuation Zone or if we stay and help our family, friends and neighbors. Know what to pack in your Grab and Go Bag to assist you as you move to higher ground and what to pack in your Stay Safe Bag as we recover from the earthquake.

❖ Carousel of Corrections

The March 5 report, "Humboldt Struggling to Meet Demand for Mental Health Care," erroneously paraphrased comments made by Mental Health Director Emi Botzler-Rodgers on the division's financial deficit. Botzler-Rodgers said the deficit had decreased from $4.3 million to $2.7 million as the division continues to bring in additional revenue. We regret the error.

The March 5 new story, "Interfund loan policy OK'd to fix water pipes" was inaccurate in that no specific loan was approved – yet. Only the policy itself was approved by the Arcata City Council.

The forum will include a discussion about warning systems and maps, focusing specifically on the Dec. 5 7.0 magnitude earthquake and tsunami warning.

Earthquake/tsunami discussion at Cal Poly

CAL POLY HUMBOLDT
CAL POLY CAMPUS – On Dec. 5, 2024, a magnitude 7.0 earthquake struck off the coast of Humboldt County, shaking communities and triggering a tsunami warning along Northern and Central California's coastline. Now local experts are coming together to reflect on the event, discuss regional earthquake and tsunami hazards, and explore ways to strengthen community resilience.

A public forum, "Evening Discussion of Local Earthquake and Tsunami Hazards," will be held on Wednesday, March 12 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. in the Goodwin Forum (NHE 102) at Cal Poly Humboldt. The hybrid event will be hosted in person and broadcast live via Zoom for remote participants. A recording will also be available for those who register.

The presentation and discussion features a panel of specialists from Cal Poly Humboldt, the National Weather Service, the Redwood Coast Tsunami Work Group and the California Geological Survey. Topics include why earthquakes occur so frequently in our region, the effectiveness of earthquake and tsunami warning systems, and lessons learned from the Dec. 5 event to better prepare for future seismic events.

"This event is an opportunity for our community to better understand the seismic risks we face and how we can respond more effectively," says Melanie Michalak, chair of the Department of Geology.

Public engagement in the discussion is important, explains Michalak. Citing fear, confusion, and gridlocked traffic following the Dec. 5 tsunami warning, the goal of the forum is to explain how these systems work to alert residents; inform and empower community members; and improve future responses.

"We cannot predict earthquakes but we can control our responses," she says. "Gathering and learning together empowers us as a community to build resilience and be more prepared."

- Panelists and presenters include:
- Amanda Admire (Geology, Cal Poly Humboldt)
 - Ryan Aylward (NOAA, National Weather Service)
 - Cris Koczera (Associate Vice President of Campus Resilience and Response, Cal Poly Humboldt)
 - Lori Dengler (Professor Emeritus, Geology, Cal Poly Humboldt)
 - Jennifer Marlow (Environmental Science & Management, Cal Poly Humboldt)
 - Melanie Michalak (Geology, Cal Poly Humboldt)
 - Jason Patton (California Geological Survey)
 - Laurie Richmond (Environmental Science & Management, Cal Poly Humboldt, California Sea Grant)

The forum is free and open to the public, and community members are encouraged to attend. All ages are welcome, minors must be accompanied by an adult.

Register at tinyurl.com/mrkra5z4.

For more information please visit retwg.humboldt.edu/ for tsunami hazard maps, preparation pamphlets, and how to sign up for emergency alerts.

The event is sponsored by the Cal Poly Humboldt Geology and Environmental Science & Management departments, California Sea Grant, the Redwood Coast Tsunami Work Group, and the Cascadia Coastlines and Peoples Hazards Research Hub.

Jack and Curly are eager adventure pals

Spring is definitely on the horizon! With winter receding into the background, it could be a good time to find a new canine companion, whether you want an adventure buddy for exploring the great outdoors or just a relaxed friend for strolls around town. We have dogs to meet all kinds of energy needs!

One big boy that is at the shelter is Jack. Jack was found on the side of the road in Southern Humboldt after being hit by a car. It was a chilly morning and he picked up the name Jack Frost.

Jack was treated at the vet and then came to the shelter to recuperate. He has been occupying one of the inside rooms and we would see him in the door window when we passed by. Pretty soon Jack learned to turn his big soulful Lab eyes toward the window and then we were all putty in his paws.

Jack is fully recovered and such a sweet dog! He is only around two years old but is definitely an old soul.

He is a very gentle walker, ambling along right next to his handler.

He does like his treats and is tall enough to gently poke his nose in our treat pouches!

Jack enjoys a stuffed toy to play with but doesn't seem to want to shred them. He keeps his

Complaint | Alleges antisemitism was tolerated, accommodated

feel safe, included and respected."

The complaint is led by the Washington, D.C.-based Louis D. Brandeis Center for Human Rights Under Law in association with Jewish On Campus, the ADL and Stand With Us.

It cites several alleged examples of violations of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as well as President Trump's Jan. 29 Executive Order on Additional Measures to Combat Ant-Semitism (EO14188).

A Brandeis news releases states that "In one instance, a Cal Poly student approached the Chabad, a Jewish student group that was tabling at a club fair. He began shouting that the Jewish students were baby killers, genocide supporters and land stealers. The student grabbed items off the table and blocked other students from approaching the table with his intimidating rhetoric and by placing his body in front of the table. The perpetrator also inserted himself physically between the rabbi and students who were engaged in discussion, blocking their conversations. Instead of addressing the anti-Semitic incident, the Associate Dean for Student Life told the Jewish students that they should pack up and leave the fair. In another instance, a ritual item was stolen from Jewish students and, instead of addressing the antisemitic act, the administration told the Jewish students they should take additional steps to avoid further theft."

"These are just two examples of many where the university encouraged Jewish students to keep their heads down and retreat. According to the complaint, '[t]he message from the University to Jewish students is clear: downplay your Jewish identity on campus or hide to avoid being targeted because the University will not protect you.'"

"Jewish students deserve consistent support from their university administrators, not calls to hide their Jewish identity," said Jewish on Campus CEO Julia Jassey. "On campuses across the country, Jewish students have faced an unprecedented rise of antisemitism since the October 7th massacre, including at Cal Poly. We urge a swift investigation and a campus climate where no student has to endure such intimidation."

Other California educational institutions named in the complaint are Scripps College in Claremont and the Etiwanda School District in Rancho Cucamonga.

Scripps allegedly "abandoned Jewish and Israeli students targeted by anti-Semitic harassment," while Etiwanda involves alleged antisemitic bullying, harassment and discrimination against a 12-year-old that was allegedly left unaddressed by school officials.

Denise Katz-Prober, director of legal initiatives at the Brandeis Center, is personally overseeing the complaint. "What's interesting about all three of these complaints together is that when you take them all as a group, they exemplify the extent of nature of the problem that we're seeing across the country," she said. "These cases run the gamut from K-12 schools to university campuses... In all cases, you also had administrators who are not doing enough or not doing anything at all to protect students from this unlawful harassment and discrimination, which they're required to do under the law."

By way of addressing the alleged antisemitism at Cal Poly, the complaint lists a number of remedies, including reimbursement for medical and mental health expenses of "Student A," a reported antisemitism victim; adoption of anti-antisemitism language in EO13899; recognition of the term "Zionism" as an integral part of the Jewish identity, anti-antisemitism training and statements; enforcement of policies against vandalism and protests; increased security; and appointment of an ombudsman; and more.

The complaint also calls for creation of a "long-term task force" to ferret out antisemitism in classes and programs; to properly characterize Jewish identity and Zionism; and to promote understanding of Jewish history, culture, the Holocaust, Israeli history and antisemitism.

Nitrous oxide | Regulatory mechanisms examined

tion around an enforceable ordinance. There are various options for regulating sales, use or both. It might be similar to tobacco enforcement, or even with use of a nuisance ordinance. The latter wouldn't require new legislation; just adding the substance to the list of a public nuisances.

Non-recreational applications, including medical, automotive and restaurant use, would have to be protected.

"What we're mostly trying to do is just make it something that's not very easy to get on the on the fly," Wilson said.

While the material is sold online, it is possible to block shipment of certain substances such as butane to selected ZIP codes via postal, federal, state and local regulation. Purchasing nitrous oxide with the intent to inhale is a already misdemeanor under California's Penal Code, punishable by up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine, or both. But the law is said to be difficult to enforce against vendors.

Wilson likened the nascent state of nitrous oxide regulation to that of opioids and fentanyl as those substances surged onto the scene.

Presently, he said, hard data on nitrous use is "lagging" even as anecdotes and word-of-mouth proliferate.

"Everyone's hearing it now," Wilson said.

Another issue is disposal, with piles of discarded tanks turning up here and there.

"They're hard to dispose of because you don't know if they're under pressure or not," he said.

The prospects for meaningful nitrous oxide regulation got a boost in December, when the influential Los Angeles City Council directed staff to study a 2017 ordinance passed by the City of Rialto banning sales of the substance. Rialto was the first U.S. city to pass an ordinance banning sale or distribution of nitrous oxide following the death of a local youth.

Wilson said legislation could include a data-gathering component to better understand the nature and extent of the problem.

The next meeting of the nitrous working group could see a rough framework for regulation for consideration by the various entities involved.

See yourself through the tears at Fern Rep’s Steel Magnolias

Most people know Steel Magnolias as a 1989 film starring Sally Field and Julia Roberts, but first it was a play of the same name that emerged from a short story that a young actor wrote to help him come to terms with his sister’s early death due to complications with type I diabetes. Playwright Robert Harling once said, “I wanted to write something that would make my mother laugh through her tears. I never expected it to resonate with so many people.”

For the past six weeks, the cast of the Ferndale Repertory Theater (FRT) production of Steel Magnolias has been rehearsing at a church in Eureka. We practice our parts within the confines of a taped out floor plan of where doors, windows, walls and platforms will be.

This week, we will move into the theater where the set of Truvy’s Beauty Salon designed by Carin Billings is under construction. For the first time in over 50 years of doing theater, I am both performing in the play and co-directing with Mike Murdock.

When Jessie Rawson, Ferndale’s artistic director asked me if I wanted to direct, I was torn. I wanted to direct this play, but I have always wanted to play Ouiser. She is so deliciously cynical and grumpy. I grew up in Texas only a few hours from Harling’s home town of Natchitoches, the real-life Chinquapin Parish. The characters and setting are very much like my hometown of Dickinson, Texas.

Hearing the familiar accents every night while rehearsing has been comforting, as has the ability to relax into the familiar southern drawl. My experience working as a hairdresser has also come in handy. Elaine Yslas and Holly Robertson, the actors playing Truvy and Annelle, have needed coaching in order to perform while creating hairstyles on the other actors. We have had lessons in rolling up a wet set and combing it out, the proper handling of scissors while cutting hair and how to create an updo worthy of Princess Grace.

To tell the story of friendship, caring and support amongst women, it was essential that the six of us create our own bonds of friendship. Most of us did not know each other six weeks ago, but after going through the process of working on this play, we have become close. For me, that is the beauty of community theater. When we are children, it is easy to create friendships based on proximity and interest, but that becomes difficult as adults. The rehearsal process and the subsequent performances give participants a total of three to four months where we are in close contact with a small group of similarly inclined individuals. Many of those friendships extend past the time constraints of the production, if only to meet up again on the next production.

One of the reasons that this story is so dear to so many women is that they often see themselves or someone that they love in the characters.

The action is centered around mother M’Lynn (Heather Petersteiner) and daughter Shelby (Madison Glee), who we meet on her wedding day.

The duo disagree on many things, and we see the tension created between a mother who worries too much and a daughter who just wants to live a normal life, but we also witness a deep unconditional love paired with a willingness to sacrifice for their children.

Truvy (Elaine Yslas) owns the beauty shop and has just hired young Annelle (Holly Robertson), who seems to “have a past,” as her assistant hairdresser. Over the course of the play, Truvy takes on the role of replacement mother for Annelle, reminding us that family is often chosen.

Ouiser and Clairee (Tina Hendricks-Carver) have known each other for decades. Clairee’s husband of almost 50 years has recently passed leaving her at loose ends as to what to do with the remainder of her life. Ouiser has had two failed marriages with “the two most worthless men in the universe.” She believes that people are only nice to her, because she “has more money than God.”

These six women discuss the changes in their lives and support each other through the rough times, using laughter and healing.

“We enjoy being nice to each other,” says Truvy. Harling said that he set the play in a beauty shop, because he noticed how his women relatives talked and acted differently when men were not around. When they first workshopped the play, they did not realize that it was a comedy until the first audience started laughing. Theater teaches us empathy, something that we need to encourage in our lives, no matter what some billionaire says.

If “laughter through tears” is one of your favorite emotions, you will love Steel Magnolias. We laugh and cry every night as we tell the story of these six women who lift each other up through birth, death and all the meals prepared and hair curled in between. Join us in Ferndale March 28 through April 20. Tickets available at ferndalerep.org.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY OFFICE OF EDUCATION

HUMBOLDT – Fourteen regional champions from all over Humboldt County competed in the Paulette Gilliam Humboldt County Spelling Bee Feb. 27 at the Sequoia Conference Center. This year the Humboldt County Office of Education (HCOE) has partnered with Scripps National Spelling Bee. The National Competition will take place in National Harbor, Maryland in May. Per Scripps Spelling Bee guidelines, the Bee was an oral competition.

Dr. Colby Smart, deputy superintendent, welcomed the eager crowd and spoke about how the first spelling bee's winning word was "believe." After 11 fierce rounds, Ike Sperling, 4th grader at Jacoby Creek School is our champion. Juniper Kyle, 5th grader at Lafayette Elementary took second place. Vivian Mull, 8th grader at Fortuna Middle School took home the third place trophy. The winning word was "continuum."

Coast Central Credit Union is a proud co-sponsor of the Spelling Bee and has partnered with HCOE in providing a travel scholarship for Ike and his parents.

Melanie Nannizzi, superintendent/principal of Jacoby Creek School said, "We are so proud of Ike's amazing accomplishment. We are thrilled to have him represent Jacoby Creek School and Humboldt County in the National Spelling Bee Competition."

Ruthie Jones, broker associate at Corcoran Icon Properties said, "This shows the realtors' support of an exciting and valuable development for our community. As a local realtor, I see firsthand how much a project like this is needed. What I love most about Life Plan Humboldt is its focus on being resident-led and fostering a true sense of community. It's not just about providing a place to live; it's about creating an environment that supports social connection, intellectual growth and continued involvement in the broader community."

"We envision an active adult community that will invigorate the community at large in many ways," said Ann Lindsay, Life Plan Humboldt's president of the board. Impressive intn'l students, new librarian

Four bright and energetic foreign exchange students visited Trinidad last week. They and American Field Service (AFS) volunteer Jer-ryl Lynn Rubin were luncheon guests of Trinidad Civic Club.

All of the students spoke faultless English and were poised telling about their homelands and their impressions of Humboldt County.

Multi-lingual Madalene of Lisbon, Portugal, attends Six Rivers School. She is fascinated that the number of calories in every food product are displayed on packaging. Madalene said that high school classes here are far less challenging than those at her Lisbon high school.

Hamza of Istanbul, Turkey was observing Ramadan so he forewent lunch. Hamza already has graduated from high school but at age 18 is spending a post-graduation year at Arcata High School. He learned English starting at age 4 or 5 interacting with video game players around the world and is especially interested in his United States government and history classes. He asked Club members "Which country in the world drinks the most tea?" and answered "Turkey" after China, Great Britain and India were suggested.

attending Six Rivers School. She loves swimming at the Arcata pool and is taking two elective art classes and gardening in addition to math and physics. Some of her comic book art is on view at Redwood Art Association Gallery in Eureka.

Pea of Indonesia attends McKinleyville High School and is studying theater, history and pre-calculus. She hopes to be a financial analyst. She informed the audience that Indonesia consists of 17,000 islands with 700 languages and she speaks three of them. All four of the students said they were enjoying living in the natural beauty of Humboldt County.

Kim Hinkle is new Trinidad Library director

Stop by Trinidad Library, open Thursday, Saturday and Tuesday afternoons, and welcome new library manager Kim Hinkle. She invites Mahjong enthusiasts to meet on Thursdays from 4 to 7 p.m., starting March 13.

Louise Ager, who has been assisting patrons at the library for years, says that beginners are welcome. Call (707) 677-0227 for details.

Even though you won't be able to kiss the actual Blarney Stone you can certainly dance a jig on the Center of the Universe manhole cover right outside the Logger Bar.

This is a 21-and-over free event. The action starts at 5 p.m. but I encourage you to get there earlier to hoist a Guinness to good old Ireland. Slainte'!

Access Humb’s Sunshine Week ‘Illuminate 2025’

ACCESS HUMBOLDT
HUMBOLDT – Access Humboldt’s Sunshine Week discussion, award presentation and reception takes place Thursday, March 20 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Eureka Theater. “Illuminate 2025” is free for the whole community to attend.

Organized by Access Humboldt and co-sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Humboldt County, the event will highlight how independent media supports good governance and citizen participation.

Access Humboldt Board Chair Molly Cate shared this statement: “We are delighted to once again participate in Sunshine Week. Sunshine Week is a non-partisan collaboration among groups in journalism, civics, education, government and private sectors that ‘shines a light’ on the importance of access to public information and open government.”

Access Humboldt Executive Director Christina Marie Jeffers noted: “Unlike many small communities, the North Coast has a robust information ecosystem of independent media outlets that contribute to keeping the community informed and involved in local government activities and civic life.”

Local media representatives will discuss how they impact residents’ ability to participate in their government to help ensure democratic institutions are preserved. After the discussion, a local media representative will receive the “ILLUMINATE” award, recognizing their lasting contribution to our community. A reception in the Theater lobby will follow.

The League stated: “The League of Women Voters of Humboldt County supports public participation in government as a civic responsibility that makes government work effectively. Access Humboldt is a vital link, connecting the public to governmental meetings through its cable channels and on the radio at KZZH 96.7 FM.”

Sponsorships are available. Proceeds from the event will purchase portable media toolkits for youth and young adults to learn to create news and information stories “on location” in their community. The toolkits is available on loan at Humboldt County Library locations. To sponsor this event, send an email inquiry to info@accesshumboldt.net or call (707) 443-9352.

Access Humboldt, a nonprofit community media center, is an innovative, trusted media resource for residents of Humboldt County, California. Diverse community members utilize media resources to engage in meaningful conversations that increase participation in civic life. Local governments, educational institutions, and community-based organizations find Access Humboldt’s services indispensable.

Dancing in the Rain Gala for Rape Crisis

NORTH COAST RAPE CRISIS TEAM
EUREKA – The North Coast Rape Crisis Team is launching an urgent fundraising campaign, anchored in the Dancing in the Rain Gala on Saturday, April 5.

The event takes place from 5:30 to 11 p.m. at the Sequoia Conference Center, 901 Myrtle Ave. in Eureka, and features live music by The Undercovers, signature cocktails, a dinner catered by Brett Shuler and a silent auction.

Tickets start at $95 and are available at ncrct.org/gala.

Your ticket to the event, along with the purchase of silent and live auction items, as well as donations made directly to the agency, provide a path forward for NCRCT and survivors of sexualized violence.

The North Coast Rape Crisis

Team (NCRCT), the only nonprofit resource for survivors of child sexual abuse and rape in Humboldt and Del Norte counties, is confronting an unprecedented financial challenge, a 44.7 percent cut to the baseline funding afforded Rape Crisis Centers by the federal and state governments.

This cut, made to all victim service providers, will mean a loss of over $380,000 per year to the North Coast Rape Crisis Team alone. This loss of funds will end our ability to provide essential 24-hour crisis and long-term services to children, adults and families.

Since our inception over 50 years ago, NCRCT has provided both prevention and intervention services, at no cost to our survivors and community. Services include a bi-lin-qual 24-hour crisis line, accompaniment to evidence collection exams, reports made to law enforcement and criminal court, crisis counseling and basic financial assistance to survivors and their families.

Last year alone, these services were provided to over 599 survivors in Humboldt County. Services are not dependent on involvement with the criminal process and are offered for as long as the families need support.

The 44.7 percent cut to the budget will mean the elimination of four full-time advocate positions, all prevention education to schools and our community, the end of crisis counseling services, and eliminating financial assistance for survivors, at a minimum.

MRCH hosting Breast & GYN Health Project

BREAST & GYN HEALTH PROJECT
ARCATA – The Breast & GYN Health Project (BGHP) has temporarily relocated to the Shaw Pavilion on the Mad River Community Hospital campus. This space previously housed Open Door Community Health Centers, BGHP continues to provide its essential, free services while repairs are underway at its 987 Eighth Street location.

“We are incredibly grateful to Mad River Community Hospital and Open Door for offering us a temporary home,” said Rose Gale-Zoellick, BGHP executive director. “This partnership allows us to continue supporting individuals affected by breast and gynecologic cancers without interruption.”

Both Open Door Community Health Centers and Mad River Community Hospital have been on BGHP’s Community Advisory Board since before BGHP became a formal nonprofit.

In fact, Doug Shaw, CEO of Mad River Community Hospital, traveled to a conference with BGHP’s Founder, Dr. Julie Ohnemus in the late 1990s when cancer patient navigation was first developed.

Together, Doug and Dr. Ohnemus persuaded Judy Kneece, RN, patient navigation national advocate to drive her RV to Arcata from Florida to meet with local healthcare providers to educate them about the importance of cancer patient navigation.

BGHP is a grassroots nonprofit organization that has been serving the North Coast community for nearly 30 years. The organization offers free services to individuals facing breast or gynecologic cancer, including education, compassionate support, patient navigation, support groups, wigs, and more.

If you or a loved one is navigating a breast or gynecologic cancer diagnosis, please contact BGHP at (707) 825-8345 or visit bghp.org for more information.

The temporary address is: Breast and GYN Health Project, Mad River Community Hospital-Shaw Pavilion, 3800 Janes Rd, Suite 101, Arcata, CA 95521.

The foolish folly of fentanyl, bear mace and sewage dumping

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF’S OFFICE
MCKINLEYVILLE – On Wednesday, March 5 around 11:30 p.m., a Humboldt County Sheriff’s deputy conducted a probation search of a residence on the 1700 block of Murray Road in McKinleyville. Upon arrival, the deputy contacted the two residents, Joseph Vecchetti, 37, of McKinleyville and Lynzee Strange, 23, of Piercy.

The deputy confirmed Vecchetti to be on felony probation and conducted a search of the residence pursuant to the probation terms. The search revealed 7.5 lbs. of processed marijuana, 6.56 grams of methamphetamine, 2.35 grams of fentanyl and bear mace.

The deputy observed a pipe dumping wastewater and sewage from the residence into a small active water stream. The search also revealed a motorcycle registered to Vecchetti with false tags affixed to the license plate.

Vecchetti was transported to the Humboldt County Correctional Facility and booked for the following charges:

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF’S OFFICE
WILLOW CREEK – On March 4 around 11:20 a.m., a Humboldt County Sheriff’s deputy was on patrol near Brennan Mountain Road in Willow Creek where a vehicle investigation was initiated.

The deputy identified the driver as Russell Taylor, 35, of Blue Lake, and confirmed Taylor to be on two counts of formal probation.

Pursuant to the probation terms, the deputy conducted a search of the vehicle and located a fully operational firearm with no serial number and its barrel cut short.

Taylor was placed under arrest and booked into the Humboldt County Correctional Facility for the following charges:

- Convicted felon in possession of a firearm
- Manufactured weapon: short-barreled rifle/shotgun
- Rearrest/revoke probation

Once inside the Humboldt County Correctional Facility, Taylor was found in possession of 0.69g of methamphetamine.

Taylor was subsequently charged with possession of a controlled substance in a California jail or state prison.

BL break-ins, burglary and blood spatter

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF’S OFFICE
BLUE LAKE – On Feb. 28 at about 7 a.m., a Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office (HCSO) deputy was dispatched to the 400 block of First Avenue in Blue Lake for the report of a vandalized vehicle parked outside of a business.

Upon arrival, the deputy found a vehicle with its windows broken and its interior rummaged through. While conducting this investigation, two additional reports of vehicle break-ins within the area were made, to which the deputy responded.

One of the vehicles had blood spots on the driver and passenger doors; a sample was collected for testing.

During the deputy’s investigation, home surveillance video was discovered showing a suspect attempting to break into a vehicle. Based upon the suspect description in the video, the deputy searched the area.

The deputy later located Shawn Iloff, 31, of Arcata, in the Blue Lake Casino parking lot. Iloff was subsequently arrested and during the search incident to arrest, the deputy located a methamphetamine pipe in one of the stolen bags.

Iloff admitted to the deputy that he had broken into three vehicles and was also responsible for stealing mail.

Iloff was transported and booked into the Humboldt County Correctional Facility on the following charges:

- Two counts of Burglary
- Grand Theft
- Felony Vandalism • Misdemeanor Vandalism
- Possession of Stolen Property
- Possession of Drug Paraphernalia
- Outstanding Misdemeanor Warrant

Some of the stolen items were subsequently located and the items were returned to the victims.

R/V North Wind | Lab

Michael Spagna, Dean Riggs and former associate dean of Marine Operations and director of the University’s Telsonicher Marine Lab Rick Zechman. The R/V North Wind was officially christened by Jonae Calderon, a college analyst from the College of Natural Resources & Sciences at the University. R/V North Wind Capt. Jim Long invited attendees on a tour of the North Wind. Long is also the captain of the R/V Coral Sea, the University’s longtime marine research vessel, which will be retired next year.

The name of the new research vessel was selected through a collaborative process. In late October, the College of Natural Resources & Sciences conducted a broad community survey featuring nine proposed names. Nearly 2,000 students, staff, alumni and community members participated in the survey, casting a total of 5,190 votes.

The chosen name reflects a significant physical process that characterizes this region. It drives the Pacific Current and contributes to ocean upwelling, which supports the mild climate and rich fisheries along the North Coast. Additionally, this process generates ocean swells that create the rugged coastline and bring a consistent flow of storms and moisture, leading to the temperate, wet climate that nourishes the forests and grasslands.

The R/V North Wind is a 78-foot by 28-foot custom-built aluminum catamaran, powered by twin 1100-horsepower Tier 4 engines, allowing it to travel at speeds of up to 24 knots. The vessel can carry up to 40 students, faculty and crew on day trips and accommodate up to 14 people on multi-day research voyages. It is equipped with various hydraulic deck machinery capable of handling up to 5,000 pounds of oceanographic equipment and instrumentation.

The deck is designed to facilitate divers entering the water from two dive platforms at the stern. The vessel’s laboratory and pilot house will be equipped with state-of-the-art navigation and oceanographic electronics to measure the physical and biological features of the ocean bottom and water column.

This new $8.5 million research vessel is part of the state’s historic investment in Humboldt’s expansion as a polytechnic university.

The University has a long legacy of supporting both undergraduate and graduate academic experiences while promoting marine research. This commitment spans decades and includes programs and facilities such as the R/V Coral Sea, which the University purchased in 1998.

Since then, thousands of Cal Poly Humboldt students have gained hands-on experience in collecting and analyzing water and sediment samples, along with capturing fish from the deep ocean. They have also learned the fundamentals of seamanship and the requirements of working on a vessel at sea, according to Capt. Long.

The new vessel, built by All American Marine, will be more fuel-efficient and capable of faster cruising speeds than the Coral Sea, allowing for explorations further offshore.

Research will continue on the R/V Coral Sea until it is phased out and retired from Cal Poly Humboldt by 2026 when the state’s new emissions standards take effect. These standards will require all five engines of the vessel to be replaced to operate in California. Although it has been well maintained, the Coral Sea is 50 years old and has surpassed the average 30-year lifespan of research vessels. For decades, it has supported both undergraduate and graduate educational programs, enabling thousands of students to learn seamanship basics while gathering and analyzing data on various aspects of marine life and sediment.

With a design that functions as both a laboratory and a floating classroom, the R/V North Wind will enhance the University’s ability to prepare students and train the next generation of marine scientists.

Exhibit probes history of Godwit Days

FRIENDS OF THE ARCATA MARSH
ARCATA MARSH – During March and April, the art show at the Arcata Marsh Interpretive Center will have an unusual topic and format: “Godwit Days at 30: A Pictorial History.”

Sue Leskiw and Alex Stillman – who have long histories with both the mid-April birding festival held in Arcata and with Friends of the Arcata Marsh (FOAM) – will serve as curators of the display.

The display is organized chronologically, beginning with an Arcata committee’s mid-1990s discussions about how to increase tourism; moving on to the city operating a one-day birding event in 1996; transitioning to turning the reins over to Arcata Main Street during the early 2000s, and finally, in 2005, forming a nonprofit organization that continues to operate the festival to this day.

Large photos of local people wearing a myriad of festival T-shirts will head each annual column, followed by bullet statements about the event, some fun facts, newspaper clippings or promotional materials, and the heart of the show: 100 or so smaller photos of festival participants (registrants, field trip leaders, vendors, artists, volunteers, nature crafters, Bird of the Year recipients, and more). This is not a bird art show; rather, it is a celebration of the people who come from Humboldt and beyond to enjoy our avian life and the local experts and others who welcome and enlighten those attendees.

FOAM plans to soft launch its “35 for GODWIT DAYS field trip leaders Kathryn Wendel and Barbara Reisman wear Josh Overington's 2024 design T-shirts.

35” membership campaign that celebrates its 35th anniversary. The organization is seeking 35 new members during 2025. Those who join at this reception or at the FOAM booth during Godwit Days (April 18-20 at the Arcata Community Center) will receive their choice of a free FOAM/ Marsh logo metal pin, embroidered patch, or bike bell. All new members in 2025 (as well as those who re-join after a lapse of at least 1 year) will be entered in an end-of-year prize drawing. Fun Fact: FOAM annual membership dues have not gone up over the 35-year-old nonprofit’s existence!

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (866)-960-8299 or visit this Internet Web site <https://www.altisource.com/loginpage.aspx> using the file number assigned to this case 2024-01316-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction, if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (866)-960-8299, or visit this internet website <https://www.altisource.com/loginpage.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case 2024-01316-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.

❖ THE MAMMY PROJECT

The gritty truth behind Aunt Jemima

DELL'ARTE INTERNATIONAL BLUE LAKE – Dell'Arte is thrilled to welcome adjunct faculty and Cirque du Soleil star Michelle Matlock back to Blue Lake to present her original show, The Mammy Project, at the Carlo Theater on Thursday, March 27, Friday, March 28 and Saturday, March 29. Shows start at 8 p.m. at Dell'Arte, 131 H St. in Blue Lake. Doors open at 7:30 p.m.

The Mammy Project, written and performed by Matlock, unearths the gritty truth behind the century-old icon of Aunt Jemima. This bandana-wearing superstar of minstrel shows, Hollywood epics, and the breakfast nook is reimagined from her dark roots in the antebellum South, liberated from her demeaning roles, and unleashed from her pancake box prison onto an unsuspecting audience.

Michelle Matlock, a phenomenal character actress and physical comedienne, delves into her own experiences, American history, and a wild imagination to deliver a personal, political, and outrageously entertaining exposé.

Jessica Freeman-Slade of the New Theater Corps wrote of the show “In telling the story of Nancy Green, the first African-American woman to play the part of Aunt Jemima, Matlock exposes the ugliness of a stereotype by humanizing its portray-er. In Matlock’s nuanced and lively investigation of this little known figure in African-American history, the Mammy becomes more than a broad sketch of passive black domesticity. In the middle of Aunt Jemima’s patter, the truths that go unspoken speak volumes.”

The Mammy Project is an original work featuring a series of monologues that delve into the profound influence of the icon, stereotype, and myth of “Mammy” on contemporary American culture. This project intertwines the untold history of Nancy Green, the first African-American woman hired to portray Aunt Jemima at the 1893 World’s Fair, with the history of African-American activists like Ida B. Wells, who fought for authentic Black representation at that very same fair.

Through original music, humor, storytelling, and historical speeches, The Mammy Project transforms an oppressive stereotype into a powerful celebration of the strength we gain from understanding and embracing our history.

In addition to bringing her show, Michelle will also be leading a 12-day intensive in Solo Performance at Dell'Arte during the month of March and working with students at Pelican Bay State Prison through Dell'Arte’s Prison Arts Program.

The performance will be followed by a Q&A Session.

Entrance is $25 adults/ $10 students, with early bird tickets of $20 available until three weeks before.

Run time is 80 minutes. Best suited for audiences 17-plus years of age.

The Mammy Project is written and performed by Michelle Matlock and co-developed with Joan Evans and Amy Gordon. Multimedia design by Kris Anton.

Featuring original music and/or vocals by Raja Azar, Manchild Black, Donald Sheffey, and Randy Wilson.

❖ PAINTINGS, STAINED GLASS & JEWELRY

Artists featured at Arcata gallery

ARCATA ARTISANS GALLERY

ARCATA PLAZA – All are welcome to visit the featured artists’ display during March at Arcata Artisans Gallery, highlighting new paintings and mixed media by Lynn Carlin, shimmering stained glass creations by Amy Ellis Taylor, and exquisite, original fine jewelry designs by Michael Edwards.

Painter Lynn Carlin has lived on the North Coast since the late 1980s and graduated with an art degree from HSU in 1995. Carlin says that she is an intuitive painter who strives to paint freely and with no restraint.

Her styles of painting fluctuate between realism, which is her background, and expressive semi-abstract. Her practice is filled with exploring to see what resonates with her. She says that while knowing every color choice and each brushstroke can change the composition, she enjoys answering her impulses. And in her own words: “Lately what has been feeding my soul is quiet. Listening to good music and feeling calm inside. So, I started really looking at the landscape. Trying to recreate the colors in a sunset and emulate the stillness in the sky. Atmosphere is always on my mind. How nature feels. This body of work is about slowing down and looking and relishing.”

Amy Ellis Taylor has worked in glass since 2007 when she spent a decade as a stained glass artisan creating luxury lighting fixtures with Lamps by Hilliard. Her approach to creating her own designs begins with choosing subjects which are naturally luminous. She says that by keeping her designs simple, she strives to let the glass speak for itself.

Fine jeweler Michael Edwards uses both cast and fabrication techniques in his metal work.

He says that he enjoys his bench time, especially the careful consideration of process when designing an object. Edwards also offers his design skills for bespoke custom jewelry as well as jewelry repair services.

Arcata Artisans Gallery is a true cooperative, whereby all of its 22 artist members run the business and all of the work on display is locally designed and created.

Media exhibits include woodworking, ceramics, stained glass, photography, painting, printmaking, fiber arts, jewelry, hot cast glass, and a large variety of frame-worthy art greeting cards.
